

The Poor Man's Satellite Link

ReachOUT.tv now has available "The Poor Man's Satellite Link." This will enable ReachOUT.tv to interview ANYONE, ANYWHERE on TV remotely. We don't have the funds to pay for the Satellite Link we are used to seeing on the Evening News, but we have put on our thinking caps on and come up with a Great Alternative. This is how it works:

- ✓ Contact ReachOUT.tv if you have someone we may be interested in being interviewed on our TV Show (info@ReachOUT.org). ReachOUT.tv reserves the exclusive right to accept or deny any request. Likewise, being interviewed is no guarantee that your segment will be broadcasted
- ✓ If ReachOUT.tv is interested, we will schedule a mutually convenient time when we are all available for an interview
- ✓ You must have:
 - At least one video camera available. MiniDV format is preferred
 - A landline phone that has a speakerphone
 - Some B-Roll (Background Video) and still photos of the guest(s) performing, speaking or simply doing what they do (e.g., leading an organization). We are a magazine format TV show and do not just show talking heads.
- ✓ We also strongly suggest:
 - A microphone (lapel or handheld) for the guest(s)
 - Adequate lighting
 - The possibility of two camera (in this case MiniDV is required)
 - One camera on a tripod and the other hand-held
- ✓ At the start of the interview:
 - ReachOUT.tv will call you or you can call ReachOUT.tv at the designated time on the speakerphone. We will not use the audio from the phone, but we will replace this audio with what each camera picks up.

- Start recording all cameras, then walk in front of them so they can see you and clap your hands. This will synchronize the camera video and audio
- The guest(s) should look directly into the camera on the tripod during the interview as the ReachOUT.tv host asks you questions. If you have a handheld camera, the camera person should take side and lower shots, but the guest should NOT look into this camera (except if it is a humorous interview)
- Do NOT stop the camera's for any reason until the end of the interview
- We tape our show in the following time segments: 6 minutes, then 5 minutes, then 5 minutes, then 6 minutes (we may only do a 6 and an 5 minute interview). During breaks in the interview, the ReachOUT.tv host will ask question to make sure we are on topic, do NOT shut off the cameras during this time.
- ✓ At the end of the interview:
 - Stop the tape(s) and mail them and all B-Roll, Stills, and/or CD's in a protected case to:

ReachOUT.tv
PO Box 173
Garnerville, NY 10923
 - ReachOUT.tv will the edit the footage along with the audio and any B-Roll provided to complete the interview.

If you know anyone located anywhere in the world who is "Reaching Today's Culture with the Message of Hope" and this person would like to be a guest on ReachOUT.tv, go to www.ReachOUT.org/forms and click on "The Poor Man's Satellite Link".
